

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sintered body comprising 95 Wt% or more germanium and tungsten. The sputtering is executed by using sintered body as a target, thereby forming a resistance film to a spacer of an image forming apparatus using electron beam emitting devices and the like. Thus, the resistance film having excellent controllability and high reproducibility can be stably formed.